Why is it called the Buck Moon?

During the month of July, male deer (bucks) have new antlers pushing out of their foreheads with coatings of velvety fur. Deer lose their antlers yearly, and each part of the antler grows from time to time. In the mid-summer, it reaches its full size with pointed tips and is considered to be a significant part of the annual cycle.

Therefore, the Native American Algonquin people from the east of the Mississippi River (a region where deer were widespread) coined the term 'Buck Moon'. Full Moon begins at 6:17 am on Sunday, July 21, 2024.

CLARENDON TOWN BOARD Meeting Highlights - June, 2024

CLARENDON LIONS CLUB: Dave Brundage and Tom Persia represented the Clarendon Lions Club at the meeting. They requested and were given town board approval for a summer camp-out at the town park for the Clarendon Boy Scouts; there are 8 to 10 scouts in the troop sponsored by the Disciples Church in Clarendon. The Lions would like to possibly make this an annual invitation to camp at the falls in late July or early August. Currently the only place they've camped out is behind the church. The Lions Club has $2 million in liability insurance and the scouts also have their own private liability policy.

CLARENDON FIRE COMPANY: Bob Freida, Chief and Kerry McCormack, President of the Clarendon Fire Company represented the fire company. Chief Freida presented its quarterly report to the board. Since November of 2023, the fire company had 200 calls, including structure fires, Emergency Medical Services (EMS) calls with CPR, fire police, road closures, mutual aid, assisting neighboring districts and severe motor vehicle accidents requiring extraction. Members have been on storm standbys and 13 members put in 198 hours on standby for the eclipse. Monthly TRAINING continues; for basic exterior fire-fighting, several state fire company requirements, countless hours are put in with on-line training, one member has recently been EMT recertified and members attended a two-day law conference in Syracuse, NY. Over 1600 hours have been documented not including the EMS training done by members at home. EQUIPMENT; new tires have been put on two vehicles; turn-out gear and air pack service purchased. Chief Freida stated that if members were paid at $25.00 per hour for service the cost for labor would be approximately $40,000. Vehicle Maintenance cost $23,597, Insurance $24,000, Miscellaneous Equipment $2,200, Small Tools $6,000, Turn-out Gear $14,000 and Legal Fees just over $8,000 so far. In 2023 the company responded to 335 calls, 286 of which were EMS. In 2024 to date, there have been 175 calls, 137 of which were EMS. The Fire Company is working on a brush truck upgrade and a new pump and hose reel was purchased with DEC grant funding. Open houses with membership drives are been scheduled; the Fire Company is working with the town highway to fix drains in the parking lot so it can be resurfaced and the Fire Company is getting prices from contractors for the resurface project. A new Employer Identification Number (EIN) has been established for the recreation hall under the name Clarendon Fire Company Benevolent Association. It was stated that last week the fire company's attorney filed a quick deed with the county; the fire company is waiting for approval/new deed from the county with the name change. Once that is done, the fire company will apply for its liquor license under the new name.

HIGHWAY/WATER DEPARTMENT REPORT

Superintendent Tracy Chalker reported that the crew has removed multiple deer from the roadside, the first roadside mowing is done and the second one started and Orleans County has been trimming brush and trees with its boom mower. Town properties continue to be mowed. In preparation of Memorial Day, the entire crew helped with cemetery grooming. Three days have been spent with Shelby on chip/seal project, town roads have been patched and the crew helped Holley with patching in preparation of the June Fest. Superintendent Chalker attended the water educational conference and the Highway Conference in Ithaca. Orleans County ranked #2 in roadside scholar credits. Shoulder work is being done, stone was put down on Lusk Road, water system maintenance continues with water samples and flushing of the main line. Scrap metal has been turned in to Niagara Metals for $299.00

Center pushes have been done on Brown Schoolhouse Road, New Guinea Road and Upper Holley Road to Route 237 to prepare for grading/paving. This is scheduled for Tuesday July 9, 2024. Superintendent Chalker reported that the amount of CHIPS aide should be determined by the end of July. Superintendent requested discussion regarding new plow truck; it will be two years from ordering before the town will receive it. The Highway contingency fund can cover first year payment; its fund balance is $168,000. General year end fund balance will be $306,000. Superintendent reported that other towns are on a 3-to-4-year replacement schedule; 12 years is the maximum life on a truck.

PLANNING BOARD REPORT

05-28-2024 (Regular meeting) was canceled due to insufficient agenda items

06-11-2024 (Regular meeting) was canceled due to insufficient agenda items; Members attended Orleans County Land Use Training.

SUPERVISOR REPORT

Supervisor Richard Moy reported new 'Welcome to Clarendon' signs coming soon. He informed that there are many issues with the state and county and suggested residents become educated; that the county court could cost millions to put into place; that no one shows up for the school budget hearings.

There is currently no federal funding for proposed Water Improvement Benefit No. 14; the new year starts in October and there may be more available in September.

CORRESPONDENCE

Orleans County has sent notice authorizing distribution of mortgage tax receipts received between October 1, 2023 through March 31, 2024; Clarendon received its $21,290.04 revenue payment. Correspondence from the Coalition to Protect Kids New York was received regarding Proposition 1 to be on the ballot November 5, 2024; information can be found at ProtectKidsNY.com.

NEW BUSINESS

The Town Board adopted the 2024 NYS Retirement Standard Work Day and Reporting Resolution, and scheduled a Public Hearing to consider a Franchise Agreement with Spectrum/Charter Cable.

TID BITS

Reprinted from July 2012

Geary (Moose) Shenck

GREETINGS EVERYONE: Following is a collection of tremendously non-sensical tid-bits for your gratification and enjoyment, I hope. Now – if you are still reading, I will pass on some bits of mish-mash I've accumulated. A good friend sent me some tid-bits that I could share. When chemists die, they barium. I knew a guy who's addicted to brake-fluid. He says he can stop any time. I stayed up all night to see where the sun went. Then it dawned on me. I'm reading a book about anti-gravity. I just can't put it down. I didn't like my beard at first. Then it grew on me. Did you hear about the cross-eyed teacher who lost her job because she couldn't control her pupils? I tried to catch some fog, but I mist. England has no kidney bank, but it does have a Liverpool. A cartoonist was found dead in his home. Details are sketchy. A boy owl knows that a girl owl doesn't love him anymore when she doesn't give a hoot. The Bible contains much that is relevant today, like Noah taking forty days to find a place to park. Instead of pointing a critical finger, try holding out a helping hand. An argument is the worst sort of conversation. Some very strange headlines: Miracle Cure Kills Fifth Patient; Starvation Can Lead to Health Hazards; Parent Keeps Kids Home to Protest School Closing; Man With Eight DUI's Blames Drinking Problem; County to Pay Two Hundred-fifty Thousand to Advertise Lack of Funds. Duct tape is like the force. It has a light side, a dark side and it holds the universe together. Ask yourself: It's zero degrees outside today and it's supposed to be twice as cold tomorrow. How cold will that be? Why do banks charge you an 'insufficient funds' fee on money they already know you don't have? It would be nice ~ If: a

This Month's Riddles:

1. When do bed bugs get married?
2. What's another name for a suit of armor?
3. What's the saddest part of the day?
4. Where's the best place to see a monster?
5. What book has the most stirring chapters?

person should feel as good at fifty as he did at seventeen and he would actually be as smart as fifty as he thought he was at seventeen. If: forget-me-nots would stimulate the memory. If: potato chips might have calories, but if you ate them with dip, the calories would be neutralized. I shook my family tree and a bunch of nuts fell out. *"How was your game today?" asked Jack's wife. "Well, I was hitting pretty well, but my eyesight's gotten so bad I couldn't always see where the ball went" he answered. "But you're seventy-five years old Jack!" admonished his wife. "Why don't you take my brother Scott along?" "But he's eighty-five and doesn't play golf anymore" protested Jack. "But, he's got perfect eye sight. He would watch the ball for you" his wife pointed out. The next day Jack teed-off with Scott looking on. Jack swung and the ball disappeared down the middle of the fairway. "Did you see it?" asked Jack. "Yep" Scott answered. "Well, where is it?" yelled Jack, peering off into the distance. "I forgot!" I'm always disappointed when a liar's pants don't actually catch on fire. Just think of the President and Congress as the married couple next door. This will give you a lot better understanding of what's going on. I went to the store the other day and I was in there for only about five minutes. When I came out there was a motorcycle cop writing a parking ticket so I went up to him and said, "Come on Buddy, how about giving a guy a break?" He ignored me and continued writing the ticket. So I called him a few bad names. He glared at me and started writing another ticket for having worn tires. So I called him a few more names. He finished the second ticket and* put it on the windshield with the first one. Then he started writing a third ticket! This went on for about twenty minutes. The more I abused him, the more tickets he wrote. I didn't care. My car was parked around the corner! I was browsing in a souvenir shop when the man next to me struck a conversation. Just as he was telling me that his wife was getting carried away with her shopping, a brief power shortage caused the light to flicker over-head. "Ah" he signed, "that must be her checking out now." Things a father would never say: Can you turn up that music? I love your tattoo. We should both get new ones. Here, you take the remote. Son, let's go to the mall and get you an earring. You don't need a job! I have plenty of money for you to spend. Well Honey, you're thirteen now. I bet you're ready for un-chaperoned car dates. My wife never panics when she gets lost. She just changes where it is she wants to go. Found the following in a Reader's Digest: A married couple had been out shopping for hours when the wife realizes that her husband disappeared. So, she calls his cell phone. "Where are you?" she yells. "Darling," he says, "do you remember that jewelry shop – the one where you saw the diamond necklace you loved? But I didn't have enough money at the time, so I said, Baby, it'll be yours one day?" "Yes" she shouts excitedly. "Well, I'm in the bar next door!" I recently heard two women talking. First: I just joined an online dating website. Second: Really? Did you find any matches? First: Yeah, my ex-husband. ABOUT MARRIAGE: When a man and woman marry, they become one. The trouble starts when they try to decide which one. A husband is a diplomat who remembers his wife's birthday but not her age. Woman to Marriage Counselor: "That's my side of the story. Now let me tell you his." It takes at least two people to make a marriage ~ a single girl and an anxious mother. To marry a person for his or her good looks is like buying a house for its paint. Teacher: Don, what do you know about Good Friday? Don: Er, uh, he did the housework for Robinson Crusoe. Teacher (to unruly class): Now, this afternoon I want to tell you about a Hippopotamus. Please pay attention all of you and look at me. If you don't you'll never know what Hippopotamus is like. To bathe a cat demands brute force, perseverance, determination, courage of conviction and a cat. The last ingredient is usually hardest to come by. A sweater is a garment worn by a child when his mother is feeling chilly. So many politicians are talking about turning this country around that it's hard to remember from day to day, in which direction we're headed.

That's it for this time.

*You all take care and have a great month!
God Bless,*

Flight of Souls

By Eric Weatherbee

I have often wondered where the stories come from, their origins I cannot begin to comprehend, they seem to well up from some spring eternal that knows no beginning and knows no end.
They flow to me like a river, whose waters travel far from some unknown source,
I cannot deny their overwhelming presence, and I am guided by their unerring course.
They come upon me with no rhyme or reason, they often take me unaware,
I do not resist their powers of persuasion for upon them I may journey anywhere.
Sometimes they find me fast asleep, when my mind is open upon a vast and distant plain, sometimes they find me fully conscious, and they storm my soul like falling rain.
I welcome these invasions upon my conscience, for within them timeless legends do unfold, and I believe the secrets of the ages will be revealed to me, as I journey upon this Flight of Souls.

Why I have received this gift I do not know, perhaps destiny's desire is not mine to understand, and so, I humbly accept this unknown presence within my mind, and allow it to carry me to distant and exotic lands.
At first I fought this intrusion upon my thoughts, for I knew not, from whence it came, but now I welcome its presence within my soul, and since, my life has not been the same.
I see things now with a certain clarity, that I never knew before, and as I venture forth upon this quest, my mind holds the key to every door.
There is no place that I may not travel, within this vast and distant land, time is the river upon which I navigate, guided by, some unknown hand.
There are no barriers to my freedom, as this unique odyssey continues to unfold, within this realm no distance is too great as I embrace, this Flight of Souls.

An old soul I once was called, and I was struck, by the meaning it implied, and now upon the horizons of my mind, I journey back and forth, upon the shifting sands of time.
I believe this old soul has travelled far and wide, throughout the lives of countless hosts, and these stories that come to me now, are mere memories of vagrant ghosts.
And so, this odyssey continues on, throughout the eons of time untold, above an ageless sea of memories, as I find my wings, within this Flight of Souls.

Jonathan Nelson is planning on being an Eagle Scout very soon. The Nelson family moved here a few years ago and I had the pleasure of meeting Jonathan and his family to talk about history. Jonathan is a member of Brockport Troop 375. He and I had several discussions about Clarendon History including the Glidden barbed wire inventor and famed taxidermist Carl Akeley.

Jonathan interviewed me for one of his merit badges and we talked about his plan for his Eagle Scout Project. I gave him some ideas and expressed my interest in helping him. I believe I even told him that Clarendon has been very fortunate over the years to be the recipient of over 20 Eagle Scout Projects.

In February Jonathan came to me with a proposal for his project which would benefit the Clarendon Historical Society. He wanted to create a pollinator garden. The plan quickly took shape and before I knew it, we were on a mission. Jonathan's project would include the area of a previous Eagle Scout Project by Collin Nothnagle. Unfortunately, the dead ash trees and their limbs had done some damage to the farm equipment that Collin had on display for his project. We scrapped several pieces and only had a few left. When Jonathan proposed the project, I thought it was a great way to revive the area and keep the equipment that we had left on display.

This project was a pretty big undertaking. Planning and obtaining the necessary supplies was a big part. Jonathan has an Eagle Project Workbook he needs to complete along the way. The first step is creating the proposal and obtaining permission for the project from his beneficiary, The Clarendon Historical Society, as well as his Eagle Advisor and Scoutmaster. After he obtained approval for his proposal of planting a pollinator garden, the detailed planning began. Once Jonathan determined what supplies were needed, and in what quantities, he got busy looking for donations and helpers.

We met over several days in the following weeks and once the weather broke we got a lot of help from people who had the skills and equipment to prepare the area for the boys to get busy doing the project. As of today, the pollinator garden featuring the antique farm equipment is nearing completion. Thus far, there have been over 200 hours logged by over 30 volunteers. The garden contains various species of plants that will bloom at various times from March thru September. I would like to thank all of the volunteers and people/businesses that donated supplies and their time or equipment.

Reminder - Sporting License Fulfillment is Changing Beginning August 1 . A reminder for hunters, trappers, and anglers, by August 1, 2024 the paper used for sporting licenses and carcass tags will change from special stock (Valeron) to plain paper. This change will modernize the license purchasing process by allowing easier, quicker access to licenses and tags and offering at-home license and tag printing options for the increasing number of people who purchase their licenses online. Supply chain issues in recent years have made it increasingly more difficult and expensive for state fish and wildlife agencies to acquire Valeron, and many states have already successfully made the transition to plain paper licenses and tags. With these changes, we are excited to offer multiple options for customers to obtain their licenses and tags, keep up to date on emerging technologies, reduce our carbon footprint, and become more cost effective. Customers will still be able to purchase licenses in all the same ways they do now (in-person at an issuing agent, online, or over the phone), but will have more flexibility in license delivery including printing at the point-of-sale or email and print-at-home. Additionally, when hunters and anglers are afield, proof of licensure can be shown electronically through the HuntFishNY mobile app. This change is effective for the 2024-25 license year and will begin with sales starting just prior to August 1, 2024. Lifetime license holders should expect to receive their 2024-25 licenses and tags on plain paper via mail by September 1, 2024.

Print and Tag

Department of Environmental Conservation

Steps for attaching your new plain paper tag to your harvest:

1.

Get your paper tags from a license sales office or print them from the PDF sent to your email

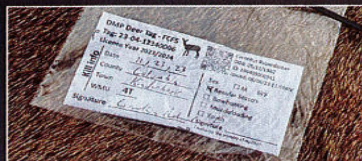

2.

Cut the appropriate tag from the sheet of paper

3.

Upon harvesting complete the tag with the harvest information and sign it

4.

Place the tag in a weatherproof case or bag (see below for examples)

5.

Attach weatherproof case or bag to the animal, keeping the tag visible

Remember: Hunters are responsible to protect their paper tag so it remains intact and legible and must attach the tag so it is visible. Tags do not need to be attached to the animal until arrival at home, camp, or vehicle.

Examples of weatherproof casings:

Reusable sandwich bag

Reusable plastic tag holder

ID holder

Plastic sandwich bag

Report Your Harvests with the HuntFishNY App

Use HuntFishNY, DEC's app, as an e-license and to report your game harvest. HuntFishNY gives you a quick and easy way to:

- Access your sporting licenses, privileges, and permits
- Submit game harvest reports, even when out of cellular range
- View current and past harvest reports
- Look at season maps and a sunrise-sunset table
- Read DEC's current Hunting & Trapping Guide

HuntFishNY now includes the Tackle Box feature for anglers!

Get the HuntFishNY app free from the Apple App Store or Google Play Store.

Note: You will need a DECALS username and password to access your license documents through the app. If you don't have a username and password, visit dec.ny.gov/regulatory/permits-licenses/sporting-and-use/sporting/decals to get yours today. Questions? Call our sporting license hotline at 1-866-472-4332.

Holley Central School District

Karri Schiavone named Holley school superintendent

The Holley Board of Education has selected Karri Schiavone as the next superintendent of the Holley Central School District. The Board did formally appoint Schiavone at a special board meeting on Thursday, June 6. She will succeed Brian Bartalo who is retired on June 30, 2024. Schiavone assumed her new role July 1, 2024.

Schiavone has spent a total of 26 years working in the Holley Central School District, including the past 12 years as the principal of Holley Elementary School. Prior to that she served as the director of instruction and special programs in Holley. Her educational career also includes work in Medina, Brockport and Buffalo.

Second grade student Callie shows the historical report she wrote about her hometown!

LtoR: (Sister) Jenna, Callie and (Mom) Caryn

CALLIE UPDIKE, a Clarendon 2021 salutatorian graduate of Holley High School, gave the keynote address at the 38th annual Orleans County Academic Excellence Awards Dinner at the White Birch Golf Course. Updike has completed three years at Columbia University, an Ivy League college where she is studying film and creative writing. She plans to graduate in 2025 and pursue a career as a screenwriter in television or film. Callie was only 16 years old when she was accepted into Columbia in New York City on a full-ride scholarship.

Look Out for Giant Hogweed

Giant hogweed plants are beginning to bloom across many parts of the state, making it a prime time to spot this harmful invasive species. Giant hogweed is a large, flowering plant from Eurasia with sap that can cause painful burns and scarring. Adult giant hogweed plants tend to be 7-14 feet tall with an umbrella-shaped cluster of white flowers up to 2.5 feet wide. The stem is green with purple splotches and coarse white hairs, and leaves are large (up to 5 feet across), incised, and deeply lobed. The most common lookalike found in NY is our native cow parsnip, which flowers earlier and does not have the purple splotches on the stem (but can also cause burns). You can find more identification tips, including a table of other lookalikes, on the DEC website.

If you think you have found giant hogweed:

- Do not touch it.
- From a safe distance, take photos of the plant's stem, leaves, flower, seeds, and the whole plant.

Report your sighting to DEC by emailing photos and location information to ghogweed@dec.ny.gov or by calling (845) 256-3111. DEC staff will help you identify whether the plant is giant hogweed and provide you with information about giant hogweed control methods and DEC's control program. If the plant is confirmed to be giant hogweed, DEC will seek permission from the landowner for a field crew to visit and perform giant hogweed control at no cost.
